PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Members and Friends,

These have been trying times for us all however, and in more ways than one, I am happy to see sunny days ahead, and especially happy and excited for the days leading up to the 140th Annual Meeting and Strawberry Festival. LET THE GOOD TIMES ROLL is the overarching theme for the three day celebration planned for you, the members. All of the events planned will be by reservation and have a limited capacity so be sure to reserve early. It is with that in mind that we offer four different events. Whatever your comfort level, there is an event for you! More information about each event is available in this newsletter.

With the vaccine rollout, it's wonderful to see so many of you attending classes and special dinners. There seems to be a spring in everyone's step just being able to gather safely for lunch and to share our love of the Club with each other. With that said, we've come this far and it is important that we remain mindful of mask wearing throughout the Club.

The gallery walls are filled with color and light and so many wonderful works of art by our members. In addition, as part of PAC's efforts to engage with the creative talent that exists in our community the Rhode Island Community Invitational is a curated exhibit, an impressive selection of work by area artists.

In the weeks to come, sculptures selected by Gage Prentiss, sculptor and juror for the first PAC public art installation, will be on display as the Burleigh Café as outdoor space is transformed into a sculpture garden. The selected artists will speak about their work, so watch for program details. Accepted sculptors are Jerold Ehrlich, John Evans, Alice Benvie Gebhart, Walter Horak, Madeleine Lord, Ed McAloon, and Mark Wholey. Juror Gage Prentiss will also show his work.

I want to thank the Art Committee and Michael Rose, Gallery Manager and his amazing staff, for keeping our galleries packed with stimulating and engaging exhibits.

Stay Healthy, Stay Connected,

Warmest Regards,

Nancy Gaucher-Thomas
President, Providence Art Club

COMING IN JUNE THE PAC COOKBOOK Eat, drink and be Artful

This full-color book looks back at the role food and drink played in our rich 140 year history, aided by period documents, photos and paintings, along with the memories of some of our members reaching back nearly 65 years.

Most importantly, we'll share over two dozen delectable dinner and dessert recipes, with photos and cooking tips from our current topflight kitchen.

Stay tuned on how to reserve your copy!

Conceal/Reveal at the Atrium

First shown in the Dodge House Window, the Conceal/Reveal Mask Exhibition has expanded and is now on display through June 25 in the Atrium Gallery in RI's Administration Building. See Channel 10's excellent coverage of the exhibit on their website.

From the Education Committee

First, thank you to Carol Beagan, Anne Carty, Michele Mozzone, Roberta Ehrlich, Michael Manni, Nickerson Miles and Bill Lane. Throughout this entire year these members have met once a month, more when needed, to brainstorm and create content for the Club while we were all stuck in lockdown. And thank you to Abba Cudney and Michael Rose for not only implementing our ideas, but for collaborating with us and for adding to the programming that kept many PAC and non-PAC members engaged and entertained.

Along with the classes that many of have are enrolled in right now, Abba has pulled together a great line-up of workshops for this summer, details have now been emailed out to the membership. Remember, it's first come, first served for registration so please read your emails so any links to registration aren't overlooked.

Finally, with the world beginning to reopen, we are hoping to have artists again traveling to PAC to teach. So if you know of an artist who would like to teach live or via Zoom, please reach out to us so we can get them here for you.

Thank you,
Scott Simmons, Chair - Education Committee
